MISS WHITNEY'S RICH MEXICAN.

SENOR CUNEY HAS A SKELETON IN HIS CLOSET.

SAID TO HAVE BEEN MARRIED.

This, However, He Denies, and Declares That He Only Kept a Mistress as So Many Do in Mexico.

Every one in St. Louis who has been in the habit of occasionally dropping around to the Planters' Hotel has noticed the pretty face of Miss Minnie Whitney smiling through the iron frame work of the cash-ier's window. And when those who know ier's window. And when those who know her saw by the morning papers that she was to wed a millionaire from the Republic of Mexico they were heartly glad of it. But there were a few who had no reason to congratulate the young woman on her choice, despite the glowing descriptions of the wealthy Mexican's high standing in both a social and a business way, and they proceeded to let out of the bag a very ablebodied and cantankerous cat.

The name of Miss Whitney's future ford was given as Senor E. B. Cuney. Now it happened that there was a young man about Investigation proved that the Mexican naire was none other than the same E. B. Cuney who had formerly traded around these parts in double harness, and immediately it developed upon those who knew the secret to prevent his wronging the sweet-faced and trusting young cashier

In order to realize the perturbation into which these good people were thrown it is perhaps best to tell just what the papers said about Senor Cuney in their ecstasies ever his approaching marriage with Miss Whitney. She, of course, was painted as a simply adorable girl and every word of this true.

The Senor himself was "the owner of a science in the land of the Montesumas, mont consisted of thousands of acres of ell-stocked prairie land near Saltille," ght months ago the Senor came to St. ruis and stopped at the Planters'. His as fell upon the face of Miss Whitney and he was her slave instanter. He put off his departure as long as he could and after he returned to his Southern home he burdened the mails with his missives of love until the hotel mail clerk threatened to throw up his job.

The result of it all was that Senor Cuney carne back to St. Louis on Wednesday and that Miss Whitney resigned her position at the hotel as cashier, announcing her intensition of wedding the Mexican before a new week was born and returning with him to addition represent several American houses.

Cuney came to St. Louis from New Orleans on his way from Saltillo, Mexico, At that time he was the representative in Mexico of the Laclede Fire Brick Co. With him there was a handsome woman whom, with-out any very great flourish of trumphets, he introduced to his acquaintances as his wife. She was a St. Louis woman, too, the daugh-ter of Louis Dorell, Chief Engineer of the

The brick company at Cheltenham.

When the Senor returned to Mexico the daughter of Louis Dorell went with him. She was still with him a little over two years ago when President James Green of years ago when President James Green of the Laciede company went to Mexico on the big railfoad excursion from this city to that republic. And to Mr. Green at least she was still Benora Cuney. Some little time after this, Cuney left the employ of the Brick company and be-came the Mexican agent for the L. M. Rumsey Manufacturing Co., and in the course of time he made another trip to St. Louis, again bringing with him his Senora. One day he was at the Rumsey plant, and ne of the boys expressed a der

Let Us Get at the Facts.

During a national campaign the circulation of newspapers that are in accord with popular sentiment is sure to increase. During the month immediately preceding the election circulation is sure to reach its high-water mark. After the campaign excitement is over circulation is apt to get back to somewhere near the normal level.

This is true of all newspapers. Every newspaper in St. Louis lost a portion of its campaign circulation immediately after the excitement incident to the election had sub-

No sooner was this normal and natural process of shrinkage begun than envious competitors of the Post-Dispatch began a systematic campaign to stampede Advertisers and Business Men into the belief that the Post-Dispatch's cirand Business Men into the belief that the Post-Dispatch's circulation was going to pieces. One would-be competitor instituted a house-to-house canvass in certain sections of the city to induce subscribers of the Post-Dispatch to order their papers stopped, and followed this disreputable effort up with a canvass in its own behalf. At the same time, through advertising solicitors and in various other ways, the report was spread that the Post-Dispatch was losing thousands of subscribers. Of course this was false. But even if it were subscribers. Of course this was false. But even if it were true, the Post-Dispatch might lose all that it was claimed it had lost and still be thousands ahead of any other St. Louis newspaper in city circulation.

Advertisers have the right to ascertain the truth in such matters, and the Post-Dispatch will gladly join the other St. Louis newspapers in a plan that will enable them to as-

The Post-Dispatch proposes that a committee of repre-ntative St. Louis advertisers be appointed in any fair way, and that to this Committee shall be submitted all the books of the respective newspapers, including cash books, ledgers, circulation books and any other books of account asked for, to the end that a searching examination be made as to the circulation of each newspaper. When its investigation is concluded, let this committee make a full report of its ndings as to each newspaper, setting forth the circulation of the several newspapers during the past six months and at the present time. Let the report include the circulation in detail of each newspaper—namely, the circulation in the country or outside of St. Louis, the circulation in the city of St. Louis and adjacent suburbs, and the total circulation Also ist the report set forth the proportion of city circula-tion of each newspaper that is by regular carriers, actual newsboy sales and distribution through the branch agencandidates for Congress will be greatly reduced by an honest review of the reirns. In several of the local contests it is more than probable that the majority claimed will be wiped out altogether.

"As to the business boycott, we are slow to believe that any rational business man Missouri can be so short-sighted as to enter into a conspiracy of this kind. The feeling is rapidly growing throughout the State, however, that the conspiracy has een entered into by certain gold standard fought McKinley and Filley in the recent contest in Missouri. The State Committee, as an organization, does not, of course, de-sire to be drawn into a contest of this char-acter. Our policy has been to keep business and politics completely divorced; we are for building up rather than tearing down. The 260,000 citizens of Missouri who supported Mr. Bryan and the Democratic State ticket, however, would not be alow to resent in a most positive way any attempt on the part of anyone to direct the mercantile interests of anyone to direct the mercantile interests of this city into a business boycott.

"In all the territory tributary to the business interests of St. Louis the free allver idea prevailed and the Democracy was overwhelmingly triumphant. Our majority in Arkansas exceeded 45,000; in Texas it was Arkansas exceeded 65,000; in Texas it was over 100,000; in Kansas it gave us absolute control of the State as well as the national electors; in Southern Illinois we had substantial gains. In all the territory, in fact, upon which the St. Louis merchant depends for profitable business the cause so vigorously and ably upheld by the Post-Dispatch, was given a most emphatic indorsement.

"For this reason, if for no other, we are satisfied that even if such a boycott has been inaugurated, it will be abort-lived. No citizen of Missouri would deplore more than ourselves, and I think we can speak for the other members of the State Committee, any course of action that would arouse antagonism between St. Louis business interests and those industrious millions of people who look to St. Louis as the commercial metropolis of the Mississippi Valley and as the chief market for their products.

Miller had been employed at different times as a grinder under Markman, but was discharged for drunkenness several times, the last time on Aug. 15.

Wednesday afternoon Moller showed up at the factory and applied to Superintendent James H. Fisher for a job. Mr. Fisher told him to report to Foreman Markman the next morning and that Markman would give him work if there was a vacancy.

Moller was on hand Thursday morning in his working clothes. Markman refused to put Moller to work, saying that he had no vacancy. The men exchanged hot words and finally Markman plainly told Moller.

"I was thought that Markman was dead. He was placed in a dead wagon, but revived on the way to the Morgue, and was taken to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital. He is in a very critical condition. CURRENCY COMMISSION.

It May Have Work to Do When Congress Meets.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 18.-Durin WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—During the last session of Congress Representative Heatwole of Minnesota introduced a resolution providing for a non-partisan currency commission. By its terms the President should "appoint nine citizens, eminent in trade, political economy and banking, to act with the Comptroller of the Currency," as a commission of experts to offer recommendations for needed changes in "our present inadequate banking and currency system," and to report its recommendations to Congress. This resolution, it is said, may be pressed during the coming session of Congress, and especially in view of the fact that considerable discussion has been engendered as to currency legislation in may be pressed during the coming session of Congress, and especially in view of the fact that considerable discussion has been engendered as to currency legislation in the next Congress. counting of the vote shows that Cash, the first elector on the ticket, for McKinley and Hobart, has 218,664. Smith, the highest of the Bryan and Sewail electors, has 217,796 and defeats the lowest McKinley elector. McKinley's plurality 233, taking the two highest vetes.

Rhes (Dem.) defeats Hunter in the Third by 65 majority for Congress; Fitspatrick (Dem.), defeats Longley in the Tenth by 1,285; Settle defeats Breckinridge in the Seventh by 1,00. In the First District the vote is: Wheeler (Dem.), 3,764; Thomas (Rep.), 11,285; Keys (Pop.), 12,881.

The race for United States Senator is still a hot one. Governor Bradley is working hard for it. FEMALE JAIL GUARD. The Appointment Recommended by the House Ways and Means Committee.

After months of earnest endeavor the Humanity Club is in a fair way of ac complishing its purpose of having a female night guard appointed at the jail. The Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Delegates held a protracted session Friday, an hour of which was devoted to the discussion of the matter.

Mesdames Harrison, Hitchcock, Allen and Black of the Humanity Club were present and gave urgent reasons for the appointment.

with evil, but it is safe to say that Missouri has as little reason to compain of the bad things, and as much reason to rejoice for the good things that have fallen to the common lot as any other State in the Union. I therefore invoke the good people of the State to abstain from their usual employments, and, by appropriate services, to observe the 25th day of the present month as a day of thanksgiving.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the State of Missouri.

The Comptroller and Jailer were also present, and the Comptroller joined the committee in recommending to the House that the petition of the Humanity Club be granted. The recommendation will go to the House at the meeting Friday evening, and while some discussion may be provoked it is not doubted that the action of the committee will determine the action of the House.

She was afterwards married, but not to very Sullivan.

This scrape injured Sullivan socially. He the was cut by the best society, and on that account he moved to Louisville. There he in tried to make a success as an insurance agent, but failed. He seemed not to care whether school kept or not.

His uncle, Henry Sullivan, was president of a large fire insurance company in Louisville, as already stated, but the concern failed hat year. Henry Sullivan retired to his farm in Southern Kentucky, and Percy paid him a visit.

While Percy was on the farm his uncle went out dove hunting one morning. He was found with the top of his head blown of Pendieton, woodson and participated by the manes.

Percy returned to Louisville after his uncle's death, but did not prosper. He was too fond of women. Last July he was accused of taking a bicycle from the office of a doctor who had been his college chum. He was charged with selling the bicycle and was prosecuted in the City Court. The case was compromised.

They said that the appointment of a female guard in the day time, while a step in the right direction, by no means solved the question or removed the main objections to male guards having supervision over female prisoners. It was at night the greatest opportunities for abuse arose, and at present the male guards had access to the quarters of the female prisoners at night.

United States detectives think he is a counterfeiter, proves to be a young Kentucky Hotspur. Former chums of his, who live in St. Louis or have passed through the city since his arrest, have supplemented Sullivan's per-sonal history and filled in the many gaps which he made in his own narrative. Sullivan belongs to one of the first families of Kentucky, and was a social lion until he showed a bad streak. He was born in Bowling Green, Ky., and his mother is the handmest woman and the society leader of that city. She is a Mrs. Thomas Pollard, Percy's city. She is a Mrs. Thomas Pollard, Percy's father having died many years ago. The young man, who is now one of Jailer Wagner's boarders, is the apple of her eye, and her grief over his latest trouble is intense. Percy, who is now 25 years old, grew up in Bowling Green, a stalwart youth with many manly beauties and an attractiveness for the ladies. He graduated from Ogden College, near Bowling Green, and because his uncle, Henry Suilivan, was President of a big insurance company in Louisville, Percy followed that business. He and his stepfather, Thomas Pollard, formed a partnership and did an agency business in Bowling Green.

He was charged with selling the bicycle and was prosecuted in the City Court. The case was compromised.

Last August Percy left Louisville, without telling his friends whither he was going. Not one of his associates heard a word from him until press dispatches spread the news of his arrest in St. Louis on the charge of raising two-dollar eliver certificates to tens and circulating them in Indiana. Sullivan is steadfast in his statement that he is innocent.

Sullivan has been indicted by the Federal Grand-jury at Indianapolis and hence he will not receive a hearing in St. Louis Saturday. United States Marshal Lynch received a bench warrant for Sullivan Friday and he will move the prisoner to Indianapolis at once.

The bills which Sullivan is charged with altering had the number 2 scratched out and the number 10 neathy engraved on it.

One of the victims of the late A. K. Frorida, the suicide, is at the City Hospital delirious and at the point of death.

While Florida was in the real estate business Mrs. Louisa Flohrer, a widow, Myears old, entrusted to him the care of all her property, as many others did to their subsequent sorrow. Mrs. Flohrer had at that time but recently removed to St. Louis from her former home in Macon, Mo.

Then came Florida's suicide by prussic acid in his office on Pine street and the startling disclosure of his appropriation of trust funds in his hands. His victims were many and in spite of a multitude of suits filed against his estate, few of his victims ever realized anything.

Mrs. Flohrer's husband had been dead a year when the crash came and she found herself practically without means of support. What property was saved from the wreck had been so tied up by Florida, that she has never been able to realize on it.

In addition she was afflicted with an apparently incurable disease. Three weeks ago she was admitted to the City Hospital, practically destitute. An operation was successfully performed by Dr. Sutter, but now Mrs. Flohrer has been stricken with pneumonia and the doctors consider her condition serious.

THE WEST BUNCOED AGAIN.

"We put in so much work in the Middle West because there especially the farmers and laborers in cities had been misinformed in regard to our position. Many of them had the idea that the Republican party stood for gold monometallism; that if Mo-Kinley were elected silver would disappear as currency. We explained to them that we stood on the St. Louis platform which advocates bimetallism under an international agreement, and that we were not gold monometallists. The Democratic press of Missouri will take an abiding interest in all attempts of the part of prominent business houses in St. Louis and elsewhere to boycott the Post-Dispatch. It will be a very interesting proceeding—so much so that the parties inau rtable over it.

The Post-Dispatch, under its present management, has been able, fearless and not for sale at any price. This is a feature in journalism that the people of the Mississippi Valley are prejudiced in favor of. They would like to know just what firms are discriminating against the Post-Dispatch becaus of its advocacy of Bryan and Free Silver. The Register is, above all things, a newspaper, and when Free Silver. The Register is, above all things, a newspaper, and when anything new is going about, it will see to it that its twelve or fifteen hundred readers are acquainted with the facts. This may involve some free advertising, but we will cheerfully give it space. The publ welfare demands that the people who are endeavoring to embarrass the most effective silver organ west of the Mississippi should known, and we think we can say for the Democratic press of this State that, al half of city firms for which they do not pay as much space will be accorded them as is necessary to make their position in the mater known to the general public. We would like to know what firms have ecome parties to any scheme to boycott th Post-Dispatch. If there be such, a large number of our subscribers would like to know their exact location. They know where D. Crawford does business. They earned that fact some weeks ago.

The Boycott Will Not Work.

From the Hannibal (Mo.) Journal. The two or three firms in St. Louis tha started out to kill the Post-Dispatch be-cause it championed the silver cause in the recent struggle are getting the worst of the bargain. The people are organized and the "boycotting" firms are already feeling the effects of their determination to "fight the devil with fire." The great majority of the consumers of Missouri favor free coinage, and they do not propose to be insulted and buildozed by arrogant merchants who depend upon the public for existence. The St. Louis boycott will not work. The Post-Dispatch continues to flour-lish.

"There; I have the satisfaction of knowing what it is all about, and of appearing dignified and firm at the same time."

Mr. Stanton chuckled to himself as he held a sealed envelope up to the hight critically, "I told him I should return his letters unspend, and there this one goes for all the world as if I hadn't an idea of what it contains."

And, with another pleased little gurgle at his own sharpness, Mr. Stanton placed the letter addressed to "Luke Stanton, Esq., Grand Rotel, Great Startmouth," into another envelope and readdressed it to "Adrian Stanton, Esq., Turner Studios, Ruskin Road, Kensington." Then he rang the bell and defivered it to the waiter to be put into the London post-bag; after which he waiked to the bay window and stood looking out upon the calm see and the long expanse of yellow sand.

retary Wm. M. Reedy of the "sound money" committee was retained as editor under the new management.

And with this week's edition of the paper war broke out in Hanna land.

Proprietor Campbell and Editor Reedy may have wanted plums in Washington.

They may have thought that Secretary Francis would have a lot of political fruit to distribute and that when the expedient o distribute, and that when the parceling out was made they would be in it, knee deep or a little deeper.

At any rate, they have begun to "holler. Thursday's edition of the Mirror cor tained a "roast" on Secretary Francis served sans gravy and blood raw.

They formed a band of incongruous strategic enough to put themselves in attitudes which attract to them a great deal of credit without exposing their private fortunes to great or immediate danger. I have in mind at this particular moment the case of Mr. David Rowland Francis, Secretary of the Interior. Mr. Francis obtained his Cabinet portfolio upon the supposition that he was a sound money man. There is no doubt that Mr. Francis was a sound money man up to the time of Mr. Bryan's nominabolters, as oddly assorted in a certain way as the old time "Paw Paw" Militis of Misbeen a sound money man since the day he was appointed to his present position by Mr. President Cleveland. But there is a painful hiatus between the day upon which Mr. Bryan was nominated and the day upon which Mr. Francis was appointed, which is characterized by a silence so dense that a deaf person can hear it."

deaf person can hear it."

After a half column more of this—just as the horrified silver Democrat begins to wonder if the whole bakery is not involved instead of only one piece of pie, he discovers that the row is over the successor to Judge Speck, whose death created a vacancy in the office of Collector of Internal Revenue for the Eastern District of Missouri. The St. Louis end of the Wall Street Democracy represented by the Mr. "Jim" Campbell party, has recommended one C. A. M. Schilerholz. He is indexed by the bolters as "hot stuff," because during the campaign he spoke in German to the voters of Missouri urging them to scratch the Democratic ticket and vote for Wall street. It appears that Secretary Francis doesn't want Alphabet Schlierhols; he wants Wayman McCreary.

On this point Proprietor Campbell and Editor Reedy have this to say:

"It now appears that Gov. Francis, who contributed nothing to the contest waged by the Sound Money Democrats of Missouri, except whatever sacrifice may be involved in his acceptance of a place in the Cabinet, and Mr. Maffitt, who could not afford to raise his voice in opposition to the Chicago platform, are of sufficient potency at Washington to prevent the nomination of Mr. Schlierholz. It now seems likely that Mr. Schlierholz will not be appointed.

THE THEATERS.

So accustomed has the public grown to the Bostonians in their rellicking characterization of "Robin Hood" that when they essay other roles they appear "en masquerade." They were certainly in disguise last evening when "In Mexico," Dasey and Well's new opera, was given its first production here.

Only Jessie Bartlett Davis and Eugene Cowles found opportunity to reveal their true artistic selves. Yet we are told the opera was written with particular intention to fit the organization.

"In Mexico" is an operatic hybrid. There is a great deal of grand opera in it, a little light opera and too much that is neither. This last refers particularly to the recitations. recitatives. They are too long, too dull, too

O'Connor aroused himself and said in a voice that reached the stranger, "Well, that's a good thing. Let's take that fellow out in the garden and have some fun with him."

Courtney thought the idea was a capital one and arose ready for the anticipated fun. Sweeney thought the night had been altogether too uneventful and welcomed the stylishly clad individual as a godsend.

Leaning over the bar with an insulting leer, he said: "Say, young feller, what is your business, anyway?"

The "young feller" drank his glass of the second and the fellips of the second act aroused enthusiastic applause, but the addence overdid itself in demanding a repetition of Felipe's long-winded and commonplace recitation, "His life shall yet, beloved, pay the debt," that had nothing to commend it but the sonor-tidding trio between Teresa, Ramon and Felipe. The author and composer have worked without clarity of intention. In trying to engraft the dramatic on the romantic opera they produced a succession of sharp contrasts, utterly destructive of artistic balance. The opera is incongruous. The beauty of its lines, the dramatic intensity of the situations, the romantic color of its tropical setting and the rich melodic beauty of the score cannot save it in public estimation.

It is a plty such meritorious work as both composer and librettist exhibit should be consigned to oblivion, but the opera to live will have to be entirely overhauled.

Oscar Well, the composer, studied music alongside of Sir Arthur Sullivan, but his o'Connor and Courtney had been sitting around the bar all night, and Sweeney had been making his most gracious endeavors to entertain them. They were all drinking, and were pretty well under the influence. They tired of story telling, and when the dudish individual entered they thought a new source of amusement had been provided for their entertainment.

It was about 4 o'clock Friday morning that the stranger came in. His light colored overcoat was buttoned up tight, and displayed a trim, but slight figure. A shipling slik tile adorned his head, pointed patent leather shoes prajected his feet, and a pair of gold-rimmed spectacles ornamented his nose.

He walked in briskly, unbuttoning his coat as he strode up to the bar. > deafness in both ears accompanied with dizzy spells. The deafness became so bad that I had to give up a good position, as I could not hear conversation in ordinary tones. I tried a number of doctors in a vain endeavor to get relief. After a course of treatment under Doctors Copeland and Thompson I have been greatly benefited, so much so that I can now easily hear and understand conversation where before the treatment I had to ask people to speak in loud tones. The attacks of dizziness have also entirely ceased to trouble me. There is no doubt as to my improvement and I owe it entirely to the skill of Doctors Copeland and Thompson."

WEATHER FAVORS THE SHOW.

Large Attendance and a Lengthy List of Prizes Awarded to the Growers of Blossoms.

Good attendance and interesting contests were the features of the third day of the chrysanthemum show.

The weather was just cold enough t make it worth one's while to get out of the chill air into the warm hall, made warm in appearance by the thousands of richly tinted flowers. All morning the hall was comfortably filled, the attendance consisting largely of women and children. Many of the ladies came down town for the special purpose of visiting the show, while others who were out shopping mingled pleasure with business and dropped in to view the shaggy beauties. A number of regulars were there also.

These are the people who came early open ing night and have attended the show regularly ever since. They are for the most part flower fanciers or students of botany, who find in the show an excellent apportunity to pursue their scientific re-

To make it apparent to thousands who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the sys-tem simply needs cleansing, is to bring com-fort home to their hearts, as a costive con-dition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig. Katte Wellman seems to be the Cinderella of her family, but a Cinderella with neither beauty nor a fairy godmother. Her sisters are handsomer than she and, as one of them testified at the inquest, they "kept company," but Katie never did. That she is not attractive is not concealed from her by her family. She has shown no shame in speaking of her relations with two men, and seems rather proud than otherwise of posing as a subject of love so deep as to provoke a tragedy.

O'Leary killed the old grocer because she visited him.

A Post-Dispatch reporter spent several hours in the vicinity of the murder and obtained some information which the authorities overlooked or regarded as too triffing to consider. Indeed there seems to be an official bent in this, as in other mysterious murder cases in St. Louis, to ignore the seeming triffe, and grasp eagerly at direct oral evidence which is controverted by physical facts.

That oral evidence in such cases is frequently faulty every lawyer knows, and every policeman should know, but many of them do not. That such evidence is sometimes absolutely, entirely, intentionally and causelessly false, has been demonstrated in several cotable local cases within the last three years.

the heart, Mr. A. J. Allen determined to quit smoking. He thought the tobacco habit was the cause of his trouble, but when he ceased smoking the ulsations of the heart were more violent than ever. Mr. Allen is a registered chemist of Lynn, Mass., and at second thought he concluded that, if tobacco wasn't the cause, it must be acute dyspepsia. His knowledge of chemistry naturally prompted him to take Ripans Tabules, well knowing their efficacy in disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. Quick relief followed, and now there is no more distress in the region of his heart. But the remarkable part of Mr. Allen's experience follows: He decided to forego smoking anyhow, and discovered that Ripans Tabules not only satisfied the longings for tobacco, which but at first he actually looked forward with pleasure to the three periods each day when he took he Tabules. Mr. Allen no longer smokes, and has no desire to, nor does he take the Tabules. He is a well man, a does not need medicine of any kind. Mr. Allen believes Ripans Tabules will prove a powerful aid to any man who desires to abandon the tobacco habit.

Ripans Tabules are sold by drugglats or by main if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripan Chemical Company, No. 10 apruce at., New York Sample vial, 10 cents.

BURGLARS RUI

The reports of West End burglaries con tinue to come in. The early morning hours of Thursday were golden moments for ne in. The early morning hours At 4 a. m. Thursday Mrs. W. A. Scudder wife of the millionaire wholesale grocer, awoke to find a burglar in her room on the place.

The burglar had climbed the pillars of the frent porch and forced open the windows to the library on the second floor.

Passing through that, he entered the sleeping apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Scudder. He was feeling about the top of the dreaser when he overturned a bottle. The noise awakened Mrs. Scudder.

She rose up in bed, and when she saw the man with his slouch hat pulled down over his eyes she screamed.

The burglar ran like

WEST END RESIDENCES RANSACKED WITH IMPUNITY.

POLICE SEEM PARALYZED.

Homes Raided in Daylight as Well as in the Night-time by Daring Marauders.

"There has been more crime in St. Louis in, the last three weeks than during the same length of time since this city was incorporated."

Chief Desmond said this to one of his men. He might have added that the police force has displayed an inefficiency during the same period unequallew in the annals of this or any other city.

Robbery after robbery, burglary after burglary, theft after theft have been committed and the police have shown an inability to cope with the thieves that is phenomenal. The excuse is advanced for them that the force is too small. The force is no smaller than it was before the beginning of the carnival of crime; no smaller than when it was a frequent occurrence for a criminal to be captured and convicted.

The cold and brutal truth is that the criminal have the upper hand in St. Louis. The cold and brutal irruths that the criminal to be captured and convicted.

I want to take them out of pawn. Have you got them?"
Stein was taken unawares and answered:
"Oh, yes, I got them, but it was a gentleman who left them."
"Yes, I know him. He is a friend of mine," answered Nellle.
The pawnbroker was completely deceived. He laid the two cloaks on the counter and also a skirt belonging to Nellie, which she had not missed.
Nellie identified the articles and told Stein to lay them aside while she went for the money. She returned to the restaurant, got Mrs. Lyons, who works in the kitchen, to accompany her, and set out to find a policeman. They found him and took him to Nellie claimed the two cloaks and the skirt and told the policeman to confiscate them, as they had been stolen. Stein almost cried, for he had paid the thief $4.25 for the lot. The policeman, told Stein to have the articles at police headquarters Thursday evening. Stein obeyed and he met Mrs. Clark and several officers in the detectives room.

Mrs. Clark identified the goods, but Stein set up the claim that he had paid $4.55, and that he did not know they were stolen. He demanded $4.55 from Mrs. Clark had to pay Stein the money.

Thefts Committed Under the Very Noses of the Detectives.

Thursday night two men in a wagon drove up the alley in the rear of Chief of Detectives Desmond's home at Sixteenth and O'Fallon streets and stopped at his coal shed. They broke the hasp off of the door and helped themselves to two tons of men coal. Then they drove away.

Friday morning Janitor Ed Truss was cleaning the office of Chief Harrigan at police headquarters. He raised all the windows and hung the ruga out over the silis. Thursday afternoon a sneak thief stole of the Central Police Station at the Four Courts. The brass was being held as evidence against a prisoner. No one has as yet stolen the lock to the Central Police Station.

The draft of the charter of Greater New Trok will be handed over to the Consolidation Commission by Dec. 1.

Both McKinley and Bryan have thanked it has stole and the Assochated Press for efficient and fair service during the campaign.

The Phillips Rivet Co. of Alexandria. Ind., is starting out as a rival of the Wire Nail Trust, with a big nail plant. Thursday afternoon a sneak thief stole of the Central Police Station at the Four Courts. The brass was being held as evidence against a prisoner. No off saw that thief.

Several days ago a thief entered the office of Clerk Archibald Carr of the Criminal Court and stole the chief deputy clerk's new Sto overcoat.

This wes entered Judge Harvey's court room a few evenings ago and stole all the link bootles, pens, poncils and paper and two law books.

No one has as yet stolen the lock to the Central Police Station.

Chestnut Street Station in order to loot the Anchor Line store, at 110 North Levee and 118 North Commercial.

They backed their wagon up against the curb as if they owned the store, and having previously opened the doors, they proceeded to deplete the stock. It was evening and although delivery wagons are never sten in the levee district after dark the robbers were not suspected if they were observed by the police.

Then went into the basement of the store, loaded the elevator with booty and then made a hoist to the first floor. They must have made several trips with the elevator for they stole forty-five shoulders of bacon, fifteen hams and quantities of coffee and canned goods. The police found one bam and one case of canned goods in a vacant building at 114 North Commercial alley.

Bismarck and the Ex-Empress.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The Figaro publishes letter from the Berlin court to the effect that Prince Bismarck's disgrace was due to the ex-Empress Frederick, who, acting upon revelations communicated to her by the Princess of Wales, convinced the Emperor of Prince Bismarck's fatal policy in relation to Bulgaria, and of the part he played toward the Nihilists, culminating the Russo-German rupture. The letter adds that Prince Bismarck swore vengeance, and hence the disclosures in regard to the secret Russo-German treaty.

Thirty Policemen Storm His Pool Room in New York.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—"The" Allen, NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—"The" Allen, sometimes referred to as the wickedest man in New York, will chalk down yesterday as one of three particularly exciting days in his twenty-six years' experience as a dive-keeper. The other two days were when he killed "Ed" Molley and when John Carero attacked him with an ice pick and left him for dead before the astonished "bad" man could spring to his defense.

Thirty policemen carried "The" Allen's pool-room, at No. 513 West Broadway, by storm yesterday aftarnoon, battered down his strong doors with big sledges, tumbled down through his root, swarmed up his fire-escapes, wrecked the whole establishment and captured every man in the building, numbering sixty-one.

OUR WONDROUS SCHOOL BOARD.

THEY WENT IT BLIND ON THE LAST HEATING CONTRACT.

Unanimous Testimony That the Peck Villiamson Contract Price Is Some $9,000 Too High.

lafter a trial lasting three days, the su Heating and Ventilating Co. for heating four of the public schools, was submitted to Judge Valliant at noon Friday for final

The trial opened Tuesday morning and the taking of testimony on both sides was con-cluded late Thursday afternoon. Arguments in the case were heard Friday morning lawyer Alderson opening for the plaintiff

In spite of adverse rulings on vital points en account of the remarkable powers grant-ed the board by its blanket charter, it was ceded at the conclusion of the testimony Thursday that a strong case had been made by the plaintiff's attorneys.

On account of Judge Valliant's decision, that the rule hitherto governing the letting of school contracts was not binding upor the board, the plaintiff's case rested entire ly upon establishing a prima facie case of fraud from the extortionate figures at which the Peck-Williamson contract was let, and the allegation that the award was made without any knowledge on the part of the School-Directors of the terms of the bar-gain they were entering into.

The plaintiff's attorneys were debarred from introducing direct evidence of bad faith.

The plaintiff's attorneys were debarred faith.

In satabilishing that so far as the interests of the public were concerned the directors entered into the contract blindly, the plaintiff's atterneys developed that even the School Board architect, A. H. Kirchner, had never seen the proposition submitted by the Peck-Williamson Co., and had not the slightest idea on the witness stand what the proposition called for, although he is supposed to advise the board in such matters. He admitted this on cross-examination by Lawyer McEntire late Thursday afternoon.

The testimony of Directors Ulrich and Lacey further established the fact that the directors were uninformed of the terms of the Peck-Williamson proposition, they testifying that its details were never presented to the board.

When the plaintiff's case was closed, five witnesses had testified as experts to the actual cost to the Peck-Williamson Co. of the material and labor they are to furnish his board. The average of all the estimates did not exceed $10,000 and each witless accounted in detail for the items by which he arrived at his estimate, the tessimony of C. I. Plunkett being especially irect and conclusive.

Experts were introduced by the defense of counteract this evidence, but when called upon for details on various items, they alled completely. Before the defense was losed an effort was made to introduce affinity to the plaintiff's witnesses, but they alled commenced Friday, the question was well as the case stood when the arguments that the commenced Friday, the question was well as the commenced Friday, the question was well as the commenced Friday, the question was the case stood when the arguments of commenced Friday, the question was there the practically uncontradicted ence of blind procedure on the part of Board and that the Peck-Williamson would make almost 100 per cent profit is contract, the figure at which it was being $19.500, constituted a prima facie of fraud sufficient to convince the case of fraud sufficient to convince the Court.

A. La Berry, Treasurer of the Civic Fedration, who figures as plaintiff in the case, as a representative partly of the Federation and partly of the citizens who are contributing to the cost of the litigation, expressed himself Thursday afternoon as thoroughly satisfied with the situation.

"Whatever the decision," said Mr. Berry to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "these proceedings have strengthened our case before the public in our proposed crusade in the next Legislature, to abolish the present system of school management. The rulings in the case have already demonstrated that the School Board is practically a law unto itself in its disposition of public funds."

Before the arguments were commenced the plaintiff attorneys changed the order of their speeches Mr. McEntire making the opening speech. He made a clear, brief talk, declaring that the award to the Peck-Williamson Company was altogether irregular; the deal was railroaded through the Board, and while the court had held that no rule was violated, the procedure was contrary to precedent. Mr. McEntire also made a def resume of the testimony, mentioning is unanimity of the plaintiff's experts, and tacked the Johnson heat reguleror system, calling attention to the difference between its prices to the School Board and lose named where it encountered competion. Architect Kirchner was ridiculed, also, a account of his admission that he had not amined the furnace company's proposition.

Lawyer Terry for the School Board followed Mr. McEntire in a long argument, in which he first extolled the School Directors, hen turned his attention to the testimony liven by the plaintiff a experts.

The defendant's arguments were closed by x-Judge D. D. Fisher, representing the utrace company, and the final argument and by Lawyer Alderson, closing the are for the plaintiff.

The case was taken under advisement by udge Valliant.

CIRCUIT JUDGE-ELECT TALTY IS IN QUEER STREET.

KIRCHNER'S NAIVE ADMISSION. WINS BY ONLY 1,076 VOTES

Rejected Ballots Number 7,460 and Judge Edmunds, "High" Democrat, May Be Seated.

No material changes were discovered be-tween the official figures and the police re-turns, but when the official return is made some changes may be made in the pub lished totals.

the vote for the different candidates for the long terms on the Circuit bench. During the official canvass M. K. McGrath, for Judge Dillon, and Julius Wuerzburger, for the Republican City Central Committee, both expert accountants, kept the figures on the judicial contest. Their figures are so nearly official that they may be accepted as showing the final result, independent of any errors made in tabulation.

Their figures show that Judge Edmunds, the leading Democratic candidate, was defeated by Joha A. Talty, the lowest Republican candidate, by only 1.076 votes.

As Judge Edmunds is sure to contest, the fact that 7.460 ballots were rejected by the judges and clerks of election will play an important part. The rejected ballots will form the basis for the contest.

The figures as compiled by Mr. McGrath and Mr. Wuerzburger give these totals: Republicans—Spencer, 18,641; Zachritz, 18,122; Talty, 28,682.

Democrats—Edmunds, 57,622; 'Diflon, 57,-033; Harvey, 56,829.

When the returns are certified to the Circuit Court Saturday the commissioners will then be ready to follow City Counselor Marshall's epinion as to opening the scaled envelopes containing the rejected ballots. At this point the three Republican candidates for the long terms on the Circuit bench—Talty, Spencer and Zachritz—are likely to interpore with an injunction to restrain them. Then the courts will have to pass upon the point raised.

PLEADED FOR LEO MARKS.

a "Pull" With Johnson.

The friends of Leo Marks, against whom a warrant was issued Thursday on the charge of criminally assaulting 15-year-old Lillian Miles, are making strong efforts to have the warrant withdrawn.

Friday Ben Morrison, a friend of Marks'

Friday Ben Morrison, a friend of Marks', accompanied by Hugh Brady, chairman of the Democratic City Central Committee, went to the warrant office and made a plea for Marks. They told the public prosecutor that Marks, was a good young man, who was merely unfortunate and that the girl was the one who should be blamed.

They were informed that under no circumstances would the warrant be withdrawn. The Prosecuting Attorney inquired why it was if Marks was innocent that he had resigned his position and hidden himself from view.

Lillian Miles and her mother were again at the warrant office Friday. They held a long consultation in private with the assistant prosecutor and Detective Tim Danaher. Col. Johnson says that there is a strong case against Marks. Detective Danaher is working on the case and it is expected that the keeper of the Hotel Emory, where the assult occurred, will have to answer to a serious charge.

"Charley's Aunt," swore to a warrant for Stella White, a buxom amazon of Twelfth and Carr streets, for an offense committed stopping at the Lindell, desired to have his selled linen done up cheaply and he went in search of a washerwoman rather than patronize a steam leundry.

He made his way to Twelfth and Carr streets with his Sundle under his arm, and there saw a huge negress filling the door of a house. He says he asked her to direct him to a washerwoman and she answered that, he need go no further, as she would launder his clothes for him. She invited him in and the moment he crossed the thresheld the big woman and two other females set upon him.

They knocked him down, and the fat one sat on his face to hush his screams. The others ramsacked his pockets and took 33 in cash, 1200 in money orders, a diamond pin valued at 1300, a watch and some small jewelry. stopping at the Lindell, desired to have his

A constitution and by-laws were adopted by the following men, who were adopted George T. Cram, Charles G. Warner, Sett W. Cobb, M. C. Wetmore, E. D. Meler Joseph Boyce, Samuel J. Niccolls, J. R. Daugherty, Edward K. Holton, R. B. Dula, Wm. Bull, Robert McCulloch, J. P. Litton, E. T. Jester and E. C. Robbins. Maj. Warner was chairman of the meeting and Capt. Boyce secretary.

general meeting of the Children' dution was adopted to withdraw from the control of the day nursery at Seventeenth and Olive streets. The entire management was put in the hands of Mrs. Vincil and Mrs. Marshall, against their wishes. The change will take place Dec. 21, and it is believed the day nursery will either be abandoned or transferred to some other society, as the Children's Home Society Auxiliary will be unable to support it. The action of the Home Society was taken at the instance of J. M. Tennisos. State Superintendent, who maintained that the nursery was not a proper department of the Work of the Children's Home Society.

The old board of officers was re-elected.

Mrs. Kirgin's Sudden Death.

And fashion vie with each other for admiration at the Flower Show. and hundreds of the best-dressed men there last night wore Famous Suits and Overcoats. They were faultlessly attired from head to foot-and they didn't pay big tailors' bills either. A few paid $10-some $15-more of them $20, and others paid $25 for their Suit or Overcoat, and their garments had all the style-all the snap-all the perfection of fit and finish that characterize the work of the high-class but exorbitant merchant tailors. We would like to show you through this stock-we are confident you will be pleased, delighted, charmed with the high qualities—the immense assortments—the very reasonable prices. TO-MORROW (SATUR-DAY) WILL BE A GOOD DAY TO COME. Plenty of salespeople to wait on all comers premptly.
